

SLOAC Comments

Following review by the Student Learning Outcomes Assessment Committee, the following comments were communicated to the department:

Psychology Plan - Revised:

- Assessment measures are very general;
- Appears that only one assessment sheet is used for all the Student Learning Outcomes (SLO). With numerous subsections for each SLO, it is suggested that a separate measurement tool be created for each SLO;
- Rubric lists three factors (not satisfactory, satisfactory, exceeds satisfactory) and does not define the parameters for each factor, thereby raising concern for inter-rater reliability;
- Suggest a comparison grid be developed listing each SLO and the course where it is assessed.

Psychology Report:

- Report is from an earlier plan;
- In some cases the assessment does not occur in the class specified that relates to the goal;
- Does not include how the assessment information will be used, but then they reached all the goals.
