Course Goals

The goals of this course are to:

1. Generate an awareness of, and continuing interest in the economic problems of society,
2. To expose the student to basic micro-economic principles and analytical concepts essential to intelligent thought on economic problems, and
3. To aid in the development of an ability to independently apply and assess these analytical tools in analyzing economic issues and policy.

Texts

Intermediate Microeconomics by Walter Nicholson and Christopher Snyder

Course Grade

The course grade will be determined by your performance on each of the following unit examinations, quizzes, exercises and final examination:

1 hour midterm exam	100 points
Unannounced Quizzes	10 points each

Students taking the course on a pass-fail basis must attain 65% of total course points to receive a passing grade.

Class Policies

Students are expected to be ready to discuss the material assigned for all class periods.

All assignments must be handed in the day they are due to receive credit.

Class attendance is recommended strongly. You are responsible for contacting me if you need assistance outside of class for any reason. The best way to contact me is after class. If you e-mail or call me and I am unavailable and you don't hear from me shortly, keep attempting to contact me. It is your responsibility to reach me if you need to speak with me.

The best way to meet with me outside of class is to stop after class and set a mutually convenient time.

Should you need any special assistance for the class please see me.
