Compose a statement describing the strengths you have gained from your college education to date and your goals for your graduate program. You may wish to include ideas you have for a research project or thesis.

If you believe that your undergraduate record or GRE scores do not reflect your ability to do graduate work you may wish to attach a statement including any additional factors that you feel merit consideration. Examples may be: honors or awards that you have received, experiences that indicate unusual drive, determination, motivation, or leadership, adverse conditions (e.g., illness) or obligations (e.g., employment), or factors in your background (cultural, linguistic, economic, or other).
