Install the Call Pilot Application (required to listen to the voicemail within email)

1. You only need to install this if you have never used the voicemail to email on this computer before.
2. Go to Start>Microsoft System Center 2012>Software Center and you will find the 'Call Pilot' application to install. (You can also click on the windows start button and type 'software center' to find the application)
3. You can now listen to voice-mails from your computer
